Great and Useful Invention.

No more Mortality for want of Water. Save wealth to Estancieros

By Dr. Robert Apparatus.

Being notorious the immense injury occasioned by the scarcity of water during the long (seeas) that afflict the camps of Buenos Ayres, I have determined to dedicate to the Estancieros an Apparatus at once simple and infallible for procuring as much water as they may require.

120 Bordaeasas per hour (it seems fabulous) is procured with my apparatus, without fear of at any time its getting out of order.

This machine is worked by one horse and in one day's work can give 144 Bordalesas; that is 20 tons sufficient water for 20,000 head of cattle.

By these figures can be calculated the immense advantages gained by its use.

Another advantage is the facility of putting it together and taking it to pieces, so as to be ready to transport it to any place where it may be necessary to use it, either for watering purposes or others.

GREAT MODIFICATION.

I have made an improvement in my Apparatus, applying a new system which reduces the motive force two thirds giving it at the same time more rapidity.

These interested can see it at Calle Moreno, No. 346 (Henerrado, Paris.)

One sole inspection of the Apparatus will prove to them the superiority of it over any other. ROBERT.

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1864.

EXHIBITIONS & EXPOSITIONS.

No severer comment can be passed on Buenos Ayres than stating the simple fact that she was unrepresented at the World's Fair of 1862. All the geographical works, all the splendid essays, all the wonderful newspapers, which our prenda Athenian press could distribute throughout the world, are as nothing, compared to the effect that one little stall marked Argentine Republic should have had, making this country known to Civilization. Pilgrims from all nations went to pay their homage at the shrine of Industry, the children of Noah assembled at the banquet of Peace, but the Argentine was not there he alone was an outcast. Even Paraguay and Banda Oriental had their production exposed to the admiring gaze of millions, and rewarded with "honorable mention." Invitations had been sent hither but the envoys of peace found us immersed in the smoke and carnage of a fratricidal war, and the reply of our statesmen was "we have not time for such follies, Liberty is in danger, and the transpet sounds to arms."

There was, however, one man who nobly exerted himself to rescue the country from degradation. Mr. Constant Santa Maria had labored in Spain for Exhibitions of 1851, and merited the thanks of the Royal commission: he now devoted his energies to the cause of his native country, and sought to hang up the Argentine banner in a dome of powder associations than that of the Hotel des Invalides. Unhappily his views were not seconded although so practicable and easy, and he failed to accomplish them.

It required no super-human effort to send home a few of the articles for which this country is famous, par excellence, and M. Santa Maria, animated his services gratis. It is impossible to calculate the benefit that might have been derived by placing our products before the eye of the World. Of what utility is it for a trader to have the very finest merchandize, if he does not let the public know, but prefers to let it rot in his stores. We are told that Holloway spend a million silver dollars per annum on advertising, sending their nostrums to be placed at the pyramids of Egypt and Great Wall of China, and the wares offered for sale at Holborn Hill or Charing Cross. But here we have a far more effectual method of advertising to the whole world at once, and almost free of cost.

Besides the advantages thus acquired abroad, there is so equal gain at home in stimulating the natives to labor, that they may earn a good reputation in the general judgment of the various races of men and their productions.

We make these remarks apropos of the idea started by the Peru-vians, "to get up an Exhibition in Lima." The preparation and land carriage of suitable articles is more trifling expense compared to the results we may expect. Our industrial colleague has shown that each province can furnish a respectable catalogue, and the more remarkable objects might be afterwards transmitted to the grand Exposition of Paris for next. In this manner Buenos Ayres and the Republic will recover that rank among nations which they sold for a mess of pottage in 1862. To Rawson, as representative of the Interior, will fall the high honor of initiating so grand an enterprise.

We earnestly call the attention of Government to a matter involving such little labor and immense profit to the whole country. The Minister of the Interior enjoys our good opinion in the fullest degree, although perhaps he does not return the favor, and we feel assured that it is but necessary to convince him of the feasibility and advantage of any scheme, to enlist his effective support. Leaving our colleagues to fire themselves and their unfortunate subscribers with Crudos and Cucidos, we entreat the Rosario Exhibition to Dr. Rawson,

THE SAN NICOLAS MEETING.

It is so seldom that we have a popular demonstration of opinion in this country, that we regard the San Nicolas meeting a very significant matter. In any part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland such a meet ing would be but an every day affair. In the United States stump meetings are part and parcel of the very institutions of the nation, but in this province —in a little country town, a meeting convened by the townspeople to assert their rights against the encroachment of the Government, and to set at defiance the despotism of red tapeism, is certainly one of the most unprecedented steps ever before known in the River Plate. As many of our readers may not be in possession of the facts relating to the matter, we think it right to explain the whole business. San Nicolas, which in population we believe is the second city in this province, has been suffering from what the natives here call a reaction. Owing to their proximity to Cepeda and Pavon, the townspeople of San Nicolas have lost heavily by those victories which it is popularly believed caused such panic to Argentinos in general: the thousands of mules, horses, and cattle into the ground to defend the sanguinary rights of the ground, have we are informed never yet been paid for. Horses, recados, and such like articles were supplied with a most exalted spirit of patriotism, but neither the conquerors nor the conquered thought to refund the generous San Nicolas shopkeeper, "eaten bread is soon forgotten;" and if Governor Saavedra was in San Nicolas last Sunday night, he would have been taught that to the people of San Nicolas he owed his present dignified position. In consequence of these and other little painful associations attached to the names of Pavon, Cepeda, Arroyo Medio, &c., there is a most decided determination on the part of the whole population of the place to oppose all measures of parties whose peculiar political creeds are calculated to cause a repetition of past sorrows.

When the great Crudo and Cucido election struggle came off last month, it was discovered that in the town of San Nicolas, which has a population of over 13000 souls, only four Crudos were to be found. Scarcely however had the election returns been received in Buenos Ayres than the Minister of the Province, Acosta (who was also known as well keep away from San Nicolas) despatched a sweeping order to remove the Colonel and the two Justices of the peace. This order caused a great sensation in the peaceable town of San Nicolas. The Colonel immediately left for Buenos Ayres, the Justices resigned office, the municipality imitated their example, and for a week or more the Provincial authority ceased to exist in San Nicolas. The party running to the Governor to act as Justice of the Peace, filling his appointment in the Minister's absence, finding that they could not steal, and therefore could not act with out a sufficient salary.

Such was the state of things when the meeting which we refer to was convened. It was attended by almost every respectable foreigner and native in the place, the latter being found in too small, the chairman adjourned to the Plaza. Owing to chance, one of the editors of the "Standard" happened to be present. The feeling of the people were evidently greatly exasperated: words were said, and motions made, which, if we had been present, discreet on our part to omit publishing, but we cannot refrain from informing our subscribers of the fact, that the Provincial administration had any small staunch supporters of President Mitre's Government, but sworn enemies to the Provincial administration. Had any one in the crowd shouted 'to the bank,' there was no force in the town capable of resisting it, and a rather demonstrative division of patriots might possibly have taken place, but the crowd, although excited, was by no means violent, the only subject of the meeting was clearly to protest against the 'ukases' of Minister Acosta, and nothing more. In other countries, which possibly the editors of the 'Tribune' and 'Nacional' consider less advanced than this, the whole of the people, when so unmistakably displayed, would be consulted; but here, in the River Plate, we fear we cannot expect the Minister Acosta to imitate the Czar that in removing justices of the peace, and other such functionaries, he must pay more respect to the wishes of the people, and less to the dictates of a club which, as a general rule, is extremely unpopular in the country districts. A repetition of the great San Nicolas meeting may lead to consequences which Minister Acosta should be careful to avoid.

A RUINED TOWN.

Foreigners in the River Plate, as a general rule, have a rather imperfect knowledge of the state of the interior. We've all so familiar with the 'Tribuna' jargon that we naturally suppose Buenos Ayres is the only province well governed, and that crossing either the Paraná or Arroyo Medio we step into the barbarian territories of semi-civilized Argentines. Without wishing to descend to comparisons, we may be permitted to say that this is a most erroneous notion, and that it would be a good for the commission and strength farmers of this province if we had such a code of rural regulations as that which at present exists in the province of Santa Fe.

Called by business to the confines of this province, we had every opportunity of remarking the great beneficial difference between a quasi-federal Administration and a garrulous, weak, democratic rule. But more of this anon. We wish now to describe to our readers a ruined town which at one (and no very remote) period was the hope of the nation, but now a deserted village.

The town of Las Piedras owes its origin to civil war, its dilapidation to peace. Built in obedience to a fiat of Urquiza's, it was marked out, streeted, and squared less with an eye to selfsecurity than rural convenience. The Plaza is larger than that of Buenos Ayres, and on the very summit of the barranca, or hill, commanding a magnificent view of the Paraná and distant Entre Rios. This square is built round with red painted cazotes houses, which for the last three years have been only tenanted by bull and bear fights. At one corner of the Plaza is the church, which is the least pretending edifice in the town. There are no less than three hundred and thirty-four cazotes houses in the town, besides mud hovels without number, and yet the total population of the place does not exceed three thousand souls. At one time, when the town was being manufactured, as it were, by steam, the population of the place exceeded ten thousand souls. Hunds- fonds, or coffee-house, there is none; not even that emblem of Argentine civilization, a billiard room. can the place boast. The only semblance of business about the place is a pulperia, which, instead of being in the Plaza, is at the very outskirts of the town. There are numerous chacras, or farms, of maize, upon which the people seem principally to live. The traveller who leaves this deserted town must be satisfied to breakfast on fried maize and eggs, dine on hard corn cobs, and sup on muddy Paraná water.

As we wandered through the weedcovered streets, we thought of the lines of our immortalised countryman.

> "Vain, transitory splendour, could not all
> Reprieve the tottering mansion from its fall—
> Obscure it shine, nor shall it more impart
> An image of itself to the poor artist's heart—
> Nor, in its room, the pompous dome arise,

Poor Goldsmith! if he had visited South America you are remembered. Not a ship was in the port; not a boat at anchor. And this is the place, readers, whither it was proposed to make the capital of the Argentine nation.

Nature herself seems to conspire at the destruction of this failed place: the water of the Paraná are receding from the soft clay of the bank, and some of these days we may expect to hear of the Las Piedras sinking en masse in the Plata, utterly annihilated. Without the pretence of a trade, or the slightest hope of a commerce, thousands of hard dollars have been expended in building up houses for which there are no tenants, merely to meet the views of the rulers of this country. Let it be a lesson to the future rulers of this nation, that although they may call out armies and organize militias to overpow, such as the Pavon, they are powerless to create or even augment trade, to give prosperity to a backward village. Not even if President Mitre with his Ministers, Congress with all its members, foreign representatives with their suites, not all these, if planted to-morrow in Las Piedras, would rescue it from the inevitable fate which awaits it from the beating waves of the Paraná.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The French Packet leaves to-morrow Persons sending home copies of the Inauguration report need not be afraid of the monstrous postage, if they send a single sheet, as it is only the heavy Weekly Standard which is victimised by the Imperial post. There is an erroneous idea that letters cost more by this packet than by the English. A single letter-sheet, without envelopes, costs only $5, if prepaid to-day, or if sent unpaid only ten pence in England.

On mistaken authority we published last Sunday the demise of Mr. Octavius Rossi, broker, whom we had the pleasure of seeing yesterday in excellent health. Sig. Rossi, who died, was the father of Messrs Rossi, Imprenta del Pueblo.

Out countrymen in the north camps will be glad at the appointment of the Rev. Mr. Leahy as Irish pastor for the districts of Fortin Acuna, Rosas and Pergamino. The several gentleman will reside at the first-named place, where an Irish clergyman has so long been needed. Father Leahy was formerly chaplain to our much-prized institution, the Irish Convent of Mercy.

The inauguration banquet has been highly spoken of, and attached much credit to the name of Messrs. Beck and Semper. Rumour says that it cost $300, or about £2 per head.

The Northern Railway has opened a formidable opposition to the diligences of Pilar, Capilla, and Areco: at present an omnibus runs from San Fernando three times a week to those towns, looking passengers through from the far north to our Custom-house, and the enterprise meets with favour from our Irish friends. This must injure the Western line.

We have heard the result of the British Queen's Association ball yesterday meeting on Tuesday night. Our columns will be open for the Report on Sunday morning: we are glad to see a division of the 11th per cent per annum.

Matters often fall into oblivion for want of attention. We think the table of weights and measures to be put up as proposed; also the Centenary of Shakespeare, for we do not agree with Mr. Touchstone's rather sarcastic opinion.

It is untrue that Governor Saavedra intends getting up another inauguration on occasion of the opening of the upper bank at Villa Mercedes. We shall, however, have 'came on euro' at Luxon on the conclusion of the Western line to that town by May 25th next. But we learn that the Governor reckons without his host, as the line cannot be done so far before the end of June.

Mr. Winchester also may be expected to arrive here in June. He was about to leave London for New York, and on his return would start for the River Plate. Our Rosario friends have no reason to anger ill for the Central Argentine Railway, simply that Mr. W. has given up the contract for Rosario fine. The former may be considered an fait accomplé.

Accounts state that Sunday's shower was very capricious. Within an acre, for instance, of a square league, it rained in a dozen places, and left as many others quite dry. The news on the whole improves every day.

THE INAUGURATION.

Knowing that our readers will no weary of this interesting and most important subject, and feeling that it is a pity to omit any of the graceful sentiments pronounced by Consul Parish and some other speakers, which however escaped us in a necessarily hurried report, we reproduce verbatim

TURNING THE FIRST SOD.

Mr. Parish opened the ceremony thus:

Gentlemen—We are assembled to celebrate a great triumph of civilization We are about to commence the works of the Great Western Railway, solemnizing the act with a ceremony worthy of the occasion, in presence of the Argentine people and Government and the future hope of the country. To it at present to our tribute something towards the fulfilment of the idea, in order that to-day may be a day of real rejoicing in Buenos Ayres, and that the 7th of March may be recorded among the most glorious epochs in her history. This town gentlemen, will become the walls of Buenos Ayres following the route before your view, traversing the Southern provinces of the Confederation the first point of its destination; and thence, with God's blessing and the efforts of our energetic Directors, as far as may deemed necessary. Moreover the day will come when it shall cross the pierced frontier, and penetrate the deserts of the South, seizing on that vast inheritance of the early conquerors. Look, gentlemen, at this band of laborers with their implements of peace, impatient to be in the work These are the armies, that no one can resist, and are winning the liberties and happiness of nations. They only await the order of their chief to begin the march, and once in movement, they will neither rest nor turn back till having finished the enterprise. We shall soon see the superb locomotive issue from the midst of the ancient means of conveyance, leaving them far behind, and when we shall have expelled the last of their kind from Buenos Ayres, we may erect a monument in their former market-place, as a relique of their memory. Perhaps, gentlemen, before the close of 1865, we shall find ourselves in Chascomus, looking back towards Buenos Ayres, and celebrating the conclusion of the works, which we begin to-day, and on our return, casting a glance over the country through which we pass, we may realise a portion of the benefit conferred on Buenos Ayres by the Great Southern Railway, till the inhabitants of the campagna to which we are directed are clamoring for us to begin the works. Let us hope no more interruption will for ever prevent give the first stroke to the earth, on which we stand. I come, gentlemen, to the as the name of the company, their excellencies, the ruler of the nation, President Mitre, and the Governor of this province, to join this day in accepting the humble office of the first labourers in this railway, and I deliver into their able hands the instruments for turning the first sod, which is to be the groundwork of the construction (loud applause.)

SPEECH OF MR. CONSTANT SANTA MARIA.

Gentlemen—The enthusiasm which reigns in this assembly urges several gentlemen around me, including the Hon. Mr. Kirk, American Minister, and General Mathiazo, to ask liberty to speak. The committee is glad of such a spirit, so full of generous sentiment; but there is a duty to perform in giving you several toasts which it would be ungracious to omit. These I will group together, as our time is limited, and beg you will accept them with the cordial sympathy in which each is entitled. Let us drink, gentlemen, to the Provincial Legislature of Buenos Ayres, and may its enactments, for the good of the province, be always attended with the same wisdom and popularity as have marked their concession to the Great Southern Railway. Let us drink, gentlemen, to the Municipality of Buenos Ayres, the most important in these countries, and which will take a most lively interest in the felicity and progress of these countries, paying a distinguished tribute to Mercedes, and bring to a close the west in the felicity and progress of these countries, paying a distinguished tribute to Mercedes, and bring to a close the work which we have undertaken to build the Southern Railway, and whose success will guarantee that of its perfect completion. Here I would associate Mr. William Crawford, who unceasingly represents that line, and whom I trust the opinion we see uniting by my side. Let us drink, gentlemen, to the Engineers of the Line, from whose profession of the country and the undoubted traits, especially the Chief Engineer, Mr. Thomas Rumball of London, and his brother the Commander-in-Chief of the works opposite me. By recapitulation, let us take these six toasts in one, and I invite you, gentlemen, to the Directors, to prosperity and success of them and their collaborators and assistants to which they are indebted to publish. (Vivas and loud applause.)

THE ROSARIO CUSTOM-HOUSE.

The 'Tribuna' of yesterday morning calls attention to the great necessity of building a new Custom-house in Rosario. We think Senor Alsina and Senor Gonzalez would consult more the interests of the place and the convenience of the national exchequer, by giving to Rosario a new administrator, rather than a new Custom house. The trade of the place is at present extremely limited, and the present Custom house quite sufficient to meet the requirements of the place. There is every probability that within a few years a capacious Custom house will be required possibly much larger than at present would be quite sufficient to meet the wants of the time, but it would be extremely imprudent for the Minister to confine his attention to the mercantile requirements of the present moment. Rosario, which would be less obnoxious than St. Cazon, than to plunge the treasury into further embarrassment by building a new Custom house at Rosario. The present collector is extremely unpopular, and we have no doubt if the President's attention were called to the matter he would yield to the wishes of the foreign merchants, and have a less objectionable person put in his place.

SUSPICIOUS OMISSION

To many it seems strange that none of the Spanish papers published the President's speech at the inauguration ceremony on last Monday. It is generally believed that the cause of the omission, was the rather flattering terms in which his Excellency, apostrophised British capital, the 'Tribuna' states that they applied for the speech, but could not get it. Our readers will observe, however, that if Mr. Hector Varela was anxious to publish it, he might have translated it from the 'Standard.' We call our colleague's attention to Argentina to account for omitting to publish the felicitous compliments of his Excellency, and request that if the manuscript of the speech is not obtainable, that our colleague will translate it from our columns.

Something about a Royal Family.

It is rather curious that while nearly all the female members of the house of Bavaria have made splendid matrimonial alliances, the male members have gone in a contrary direction," and married ladies of mediocre birth, if not absolute plebeians. While all the princesses of Wittelsbach are evidently ambitious, the princes seem to be a quiet, easy-going set of men, given to rest and contemplation, to tobacco and beer, beer, and disliking the pomp and ceremony involved in the presence of high-born spouses. The ex-King of Greece, fat, indolent, and good-humoured, is a fair type of his family. Prince Otho, for he will not care a straw, through the influence of his powerful aunts and cousins, he left the troubles and honours of government to the more active spouse, the chief personal anxiety being to keep a never-ending supply of Bavarian ale near his person, wherever he may be at the time of the Acropolis. When this revolution made this supply fail, he was glad enough to shake the dust of Athens from his feet, and to retreat to his beloved sunbills of Munich. The present Sovereign of Bavaria is a man very much of the same character; but still superior to his uncle Charles, the only brother of ex King Louis, and half-brother of the beautiful pair of twin princesses who have been the wives of Caesars. Prince Charles himself never aspired to a noble lady, for less to a princess, but married a lady of the theatre, one Monsieur Bolley, who grounded him well in the purest Parisian accent, and sometimes took him on a French tour, where he commanded one of the regiments of Munich, and close by the house lived Madame Tilly and Mademoiselle Marie Bolley and a host of little Bolleys, all talking the purest Parisian accents. Prince Charles, in his homely way, took a liking to the Bolleys, and particularly to Mademoiselle Marie, and as she is to be supposed, spoke French better than even old Monsieur; and his admiration for the young lady developed so much that he announced one day to his papa, King Maximilian I. that he was going to marry Mademoiselle Marie Anne. It occasioned a terrible scene at the Schloss, as may be imagined; but the end of it was that Prince Charles did marry Mlle. Bolley, though the promises notwithstanding. To hide the family disgrace, as far as possible, the bride's name was changed, some time after to the rank of Baroness Bayersdorf —anglice, "Bavarian village"—in her own right, added to which was the gift of a handsome property and a good fortune. Prince Charles and his bourgeois consort lived very happily, though the great seclusion for many years and after her decease, the Prince married another damsel of humble origin, provided since under the name of Hensler, created Frankenburg. But these are no means the only "morganatic" marriages in the royal family of Bavaria. The grandfather of the Queen of Austria, eldest son and heir of Duke Maximilian, was married at the parish church of Augsburg, in 1837, to a tradesman's daughter, for whom he afterwards obtained the title of Baroness von Wallerace. This marriage gave great offence at Vienna as well as at Munich, and, to allay the storm, Prince Ludwig had to renounce all his rights and family claims in favour of a younger brother. To judge by what took place at the respective marriages of the Prince Charles and of this young Prince Ludwig, it seems that "morganatic" alliances are much more strictly prohibited in Bavaria at the present time than they were fifty years ago.—Spectator.

INAUGURATION PHOTOGRAPHS.

We have seen the four views taken by Sig. Bartoli the eminent photographer, on occasion of the late inauguration. The 'camera was erected on the roof of the Convalescencia, which commands a splendid birdseye panorama of the site of the Inauguration, and the route of the intended Line.

Part I. shows the spot where the first sod was turned, and although from the great distance the figures are small, we have an excellent idea of the most imposing scene in the day's performance.

Part II gives next where the banquet was held out, with the British and Italian hospitals in the back-ground, and far out the roadstead of B. Ayres and its shipping. As a sad contrast to the joyful celebration, we see inmates of the Lunatic Asylum ranged along the railing in front, probably unconscious of the great event of the day.

Part III. is a lively picture of the 400 navvies at work, for while "the feast of reason and the flow of soul" spread animation along the banquet tables, the scene outside is no less cheering. The views of the Hoes and Barracas in the back ground are enchanting.

Part IV. shows a more distant view, embracing a part of the 1st section of cuttings, where a small band of workmen ply their instruments. This would form a pretty landscape, the cuttings being broken and wooded all over. In the distance may be seen the quintas of Lomas de Zamorra, which will so soon be planted with a few minutes of the capital.

Those of our readers who may have Italian honor at heart, should visit Sig. Bartoli's studio, Recoba Nueva, Plaza Victoria, where, besides the above pictures, is a splendid 'camera solar,' reproducing the most perfect likenesses at life size. The view of the Inauguration are taken on cards about 8 inches square, and by means of a powerful magnifier, every minute feature of the panorama starts forth to life. They will be forwarded, we believe, by this packet, to the 'London News.'

Mr. Hoover also attended at the Inauguration, placing his 'camera' on the ground, and taking, by order of the Director a view of the spot where President Mitre turned the first sod. Subsequently, he took a photograph of the interior of the tent where the banquet was held out, and a large picture of the exterior, with the crowd of spectators: finally, a view of the navvies at work. Mr. Hoover invites the public to inspect these several pictures on exhibition at his 'gallery,' No. 91, San Martin. Copies will be forwarded to London by to-morrow's packet.

LOCAL EVENTS.

The Villa del Salto.—The 'Comercio' newspaper states that this steamer has been handed over to the company which bought her, and that shortly she will run on the station to Montevideo. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished for. The way the two companies cannot between the two capitals is at present carried on is most shameful. We are mere cockles of getting an authentic information regularly about Tobbles, than from the other side of the river; and no other nation in the world, which has once tasted the luxury of well-regulated postal conveniences, would stand it for a week.

A Free Fight.—It is most amusing to see the Italian shoemakers of the Madre Mitre's Division, and vent in the 'Nacion Argentina' that he has just been rejected by the Club Libertad from the list of candidates for the Provincial Legislature.

Magic Incident.—This gentleman's corps, Efferos de San Juan, has just been disbanded, as per order of yesterday's 'Nacional' that the men are to be drafted into other regiments.

CORN EXCHANGE.

March 10.

Paper money, which for the last few weeks had been steadily declining, displayed a very desirable firmness to-day.

Patacones opened weak at 29 45, continued declining during the day, closed at 29 35, and sold on after hours as low as 29 25 for cash. The cheapest sale of patacones to-day during business hours was early in the day at 29 30. Buyers for cash, 29 25. Sellers, 29 30.

Of Bills at the most pleasing auto faction to call attention to the improvement in our currency. The general feeling on the Bolsa is that an effort must be made to give an increased value to our paper money, and, with the exception of a few speculators, we may say that all are anxious to reduce the high price in specie. It was known on the Bolsa that the new Finance Minister was making arrangements with the Bank of Maua for opening a large credit for the Government. This, as a natural result, had a beneficial effect on the specie market.

The news which we published to-day from San Juan, respecting Mr Rickard's rumoured resignation, causes a rather uneasy feeling amongst the stockholders of the San Juan Mining Company. We feel bound to say, that an inany of the holders of the stock invested in these shares more on the personal regard for Mr. Rickard than President Mitre, than as a promising speculation. We cannot regard Mr. Rickard as free to tender his resignation of a trust, which was so confidingly reposed in him; his resignation would entail most serious loss upon many of Mr. Rickard's best friends in this city, and we hope, per next mail from San Juan, to receive Mr. Rickard's positive contradiction of this rather unpleasant rumour.

In Exchange, we remark that for England the market is rather flat; 87s. to 6d. one 6d. Exchange on Paris is rather brisk, and a great many bills have been passed at from 83¾ to 84¼ francs. The total amount drawn up to this evening is put down at £1,200,000.

The Cazaux arrived to-day from Montevideo. There is no politics; news of importance; business rather dull. We hear of a sale of 300 tons of Cardiff coal to arrive, at 9 patacones.

Wheat is at present very firm. We heard of a heavy sale, at reserved price (supposed to be 190 dol. per fanega.) Maize is very weak; the new crop is selling at 63 to 70 dol. per fan. the crop of maize this year has been very large in the country districts, it sells at from 25 dols. to 30 dols. per fanega.

The Provincial Finance Minister passed down in front of the Bolsa this evening; he looked in good spirits, but we understand he did not step in to look at the black board.

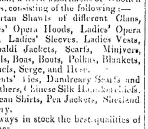
THE SUFFERER'S BEST FRIEND.



HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

ALL DISORDERS AFFECTING THE LIVER, STOMACH AND BOWELS.

These Pills can be confidently recommended as the most effectual remedy that has ever been discovered for the cure of all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, which are the origin of nine-tenths of the maladies incidental to the human frame. These Pills are composed on principles of the most extraordinary chemical accuracy, and are the result of many years' practical study and investigation. They purify the blood, and correct all disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, which are the source of all complaints, however different their symptoms may be.

WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY, NERVOUS IRRITABILITY

The wretchedness often caused by these disorders Pills never fail to restore the nervous to perfect health, even in cases of the most hopeless character. Indigestion, biliousness, fits of giddiness, spasms in the stomach, pain in the side, back, and loins, are the offspring of a disordered liver. They never betray any despondency or uncertain action; but, whatever the constitution may be subject to, they gradually create a thorough change, acting upon the blood, and driving every impurity from the system, however it may have been originated. In fact, no medicine has ever been discovered to rival them in their wonderful efficacy in all cases of irregularity.

OLD COUGHS, COLDS, AND ASTHMATICAL AFFECTIONS.

These Pills, assisted in their action by rubbing Holloway's Ointment well into the chest, throat, and pit of the stomach, are infallible in the most obstinate cases of coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, and even consumption itself, when all other means have failed. Indeed, in every disease of the chest, throat, and lungs, they have proved unfailing. Many persons have been cured of severe coughs, colds, and asthma, by these Pills, after every other remedy had been tried in vain. Their searching and purifying qualities are such that no disease can withstand them, however deeply seated it may be, or however dangerous it may be considered. Every sufferer may feel confident that a perseverance in the use of these Pills, according to the directions, must ultimately effect a cure, however desperate every other means may have proved.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUÁ & C°
No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —
BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artizans, working-men & servants or all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other revolting

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer the same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a "Savings Bank" at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m to 3 p. m. on week days, and on Saturdays and holidays from 10 a. m. to 12 m. for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres September 10th 1863.

p. p. Mauá & Co.
BYLLOAM LESLIE.

CONDITIONS.

1st. The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty five dollars currency or one silver dollar upwards.

2nd. The interest allowed is six per cent [6 p$] per annum which is liquidated every six months

3rd. The depositor can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

4th. Once the amount deposited exceeds Twenty five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver the depositor if he wishes can open an account current according to the rules established by the Bank.

5th. In case the depositor loses his Pass Book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,
CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS
Directed by Professors, of the London Universities College.
This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronised by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is on the reproduction of an English School, where a sound commercial education combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.
An ever-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order are among the many sufficient guarantees that the morals in behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.
The studies are besides taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages, History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Religious Instruction.
Extra studies, such as Latin, Mathematics, German, Music and Drawing, are also taught by special masters.
